

EXECUTIVE WOMEN in GOVERNMENT

A Powerful Network

Executive Women in Government (EWG) is an organization with the mission to prepare, promote, and mentor women for senior leadership positions in the Federal Government. As the Mentoring Program Champion of the EWG Mentoring Program, I am pleased to announce the 2018 launch of the program. If you are a senior leader in government today or a retired senior leader, we need you to share your wisdom with our next generation of leaders. As a mentor, you will have an opportunity to:

- Leave your legacy and pay it forward!
- Receive training in the latest methods and models of effective mentoring.
- Develop the next generation of women leaders across government.

We understand that time is always a limiting factor, but good executives make time for real priorities. Our future leaders are a priority for all of us. You will begin the 9-month formal program (from October 2018-June 2019) with a comprehensive matching process followed by formal training. From there, an average of one to two hours per month is devoted to the mentoring relationship.

I encourage you to apply today to be a part of the EWG Mentoring Program, as I know this will be a valuable experience. To learn more about the program goals, roles and protégé selection process copy and paste the following link into your web browser:
